

MUSIC IN SCHOOLS.

Mr. Gen. Whitney, a director of the Woodburn precinct schools, has rented an organ at $2 a month of a Salem music dealer, and the school teacher employed will devote a half hour each day to teaching the children singing by note to the accompaniment of the instrument.

We speak of this in detail because we wish all our readers to consider how cheaply vocal music can be taught to the many in our public schools, where now, as a rule, no music is taught. Of course, in the schools of the larger towns there is to be found an organ or piano, and music is an indispensable feature of the daily program. But the introduction of more music in the public schools is an important matter.

People in towns have more musical privileges than in the country. There are more musical instruments, concerts, entertainments, bands, church and parlor music, and children, both in school and at home, have more music and are better educated in music than in the country. It is the country school that needs music most. The benefit of a half hour's musical training and the singing and playing and opportunities for concerts and choruses have a refining influence that will be felt in the whole community for good. There is many a rough boy or girl, who seem to be little influenced for culture by their studies, who will be softened down by the interest awakened in music. It cannot begin too early in life nor extend too far along in their school years. Mr. Whitney deserves credit for his effort to have music taught in the country schools.

A Yamhill county paper says: "To our mind the best representative of the Republicans of this district could send to Washington, is Hon. Henry L. Barkley, of Marion county, a man who for his fairness, fearlessness and cleanliness, is respected by the people of Oregon, without regard to party. Every man in this district is interested in a matter of this kind, for while the man elected may be a Republican, he is to be a representative of all the people of this district, regardless of their varied political beliefs, rather than of the Republican party, and it will take a broad minded man like Barkley to do it." Mr. Barkley has not the money to contest the nomination. He has no pull with the machine managers. Besides, a man who would go there simply to represent the people would be out of place and is not wanted in the modern Babylon of politics. Besides Barkley is a moral man and would strike the bootblowers at Washington a good deal as Christ struck the crowd in the temple at Jerusalem.

If it wasn't for being pharisaical THE JOURNAL would thank God it wasn't a straddler. It is the right of any man to advocate different policies at different times and under different circumstances, but to get on both sides of the same subject at the same time is never right.
